

My boyfriend broke up with me. I'm not sure how will I ever live without him.

I hate my life. I suck at everything.

I got into a fight with my best friend and we haven't spoken in over a week. She's started spreading rumors about me and I don't want to come to school because of it.

My locker partner is a hog.

My Facebook account was hacked.

My friend is being bullied on the bus. I want to help, but I'm afraid that I might become a target.

I can't keep up on my assignments.

I want to change my elective.

My science teacher always picks on me...I don't understand why.

I'd rather have a female P.E. teacher than a male P.E. teacher. Both teachers are fine, but I'd still like to change.

My math class is too easy; I think I should be in a higher math class.

I would like to be a leader and help out around the school.

I can't concentrate in class. It's too hard to focus.

My mom gets drunk
every night. It causes a lot of arguments between my parents.

I don't feel safe
sometimes at home.

We don't have enough
food at home and
I'm always hungry.

My dad lost his job
and now we might have to move out of our house. I'm not sure where we are going to live.

There's no money in my lunch account. I live with my mom and she doesn't have enough money. My friends
have been sharing their lunches with me when I'm hungry...I don't know what to do.

Going to college will be too hard. I'd rather just bum around with my friends instead.

My parents are already talking about how I'm going to go college. They want me to "follow in their footsteps." Why can't I make my own decisions?

Do colleges look at my middle school grades?

Everybody else knows what they want to be when they grow up. I have no idea. I don't really think that I have any special skills or talents.

Nobody in my family has ever gone to college. What's the point of going?

I really want a job! What do I have to do?